THE CHIYO MARU AT MANILA.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha's magnificent liner, the Chiyo Maru, has just paid her maiden visit to Manila, and occasion was taken to throw her open to as large a number of prominent residents as possible. A very large party sat down to tiffin, Capt. Greene having the Acting Governor on his right and the Japanese Consul-General on the other side. Following the tiffin came an afternoon tea for the ladies of Manilas which was also very largely attended.

Captain Greene, we understand, addressed the following letter to Mr Loewenstein :-"As I am leaving this port at 8 p.m. this day. I beg to tell you of my experience since being here. Before my arrival I was told that I could not enter the inner harbour if my command was drawing over 28ft... "I wired you from Nagasaki relative to my arrival and also the draft of my vessel. For some reason when I arrived in port, the Harbor Master or Berthing Master ordered me to anchor outside the Breakwater, and being always ready to comply with port regulations, I immediately anchored my command. As soon as 1 CHARAFERTAND MICE TIME THE THE CONTRIBUTION OF THE PROPERTY OF

I was told there was 34 feet of water and could go inside, which, as you know, I did at once, without any hesitation, knowing it would be for the convenience of all con-

"My command was drawing 29 feet 8 nches when I entered the inner, but I found no difficulty in handling my command and would not hesitate on some future voyage to enter the harbour of Manila with even greater draft, as from soundings made by me I found I had two feet of water to spare over the draft my vessel was drawing as above-mentioned.

"I also beg to state that the cargo of over 3000 tons has been handled in praiseworthy manner, considering all the difficulties placed in my way and great eredit is due the stevedore. Captain

"I can conscientionsly say that freight cannot be handled better at any port, than at your port of Manila, all things taken into consideration."

Ambitious Footballers.

With the advent of autumn football is upon us once more and we trust the members of the Queen's College Football Club will set themselves seriously to secure the first place in both senior and junior football

We would say in addition that, especially as regards football, there have never been such opportunities in the past as are now existing. There are two Leagues in full swing-Sonior and Junior-and in each is trophy which any team should be proud to win and it is a great pity if in this, the largest school in the Colony, we are unable to raise two teams to secure the first place grounds available tham herotofore and hence more facilities for practice. We would also point out that school life is not confined to reasonable share in the school games is also their books at home. - Yallow Dragon.

DRINGYE NHORETEGREM

A delightful evening was spont in connection with the Union Church Literary Club on Thursday, thanks largely to the offorts of Mrs Bellamy Brown, who not only contributed a most interesting, thoughtful and well balanced paper on the life and works of Mendelssohn, but was responsible for the arrangement of a capital musical programme drawn entirely from the oompositions of the subject of her critical essay, towards the interpretation of which she was materially assisted by Mrs Belilios. Dr. Balilios presided.

At the conclusion of the paper the remainder of the evening was devoted to musical illustrations of the composer's genius. Mrs Bellamy Brown and Mrs in both leagues. UANTON, October 20. AN INTERRUPTED WEDDING.

Brigands are very numerous in the Ying Kong District and as the policing of the place is mostly inadequate these disturbers of the peace usually have things their own way. In a village called Ma Nai, of this district, a wedding was being celebrated a few days ago. In the midst-of the ceremonies and while the house was crowded with guests in their holiday attire a number of well-armed men burst into the place, There was very great confusion and the event is between Bill Lewis of Hongkong whole place was raussched by the robbers. and Coleman of U.S.S. AN ASTRONOMIC L PROBLEY.

Theory of the Central Sun.

It has been the dream of all the romantic astronomers since the time of Copernicus to"prove the existence of a central sun (says Mr Lawrence Hodges writing in the New York Tribune). By this is meant a on Friday. heavenly body as much larger than the sun as the sun itself is larger than the earth; round which the sun, with all its planets must revolve. It has been proved that the sum and its satellites are rushing forward through space with enormous vel city; but whether the motion was in a straight line or a circular path was not proved for some

But even if it was proved a curved path, and that there probably existed a central sun that transcended the earth's lord in size, why couldn't we see it? The only answers are that it would have to be nonluminous or else so far away that the light hadn't reached us yet. But, if all the stars, including our sun, were children of this big sun, just as the earth is the child of the un, and the moon of the earth, they business, professious, fruitgrowing, poultry, have had to have been flung off from the big sun with a greater velocity than that of light in order for the big sun not to be visible and still be luminous. Also the big ment League, Roem A47, Law Chambers | sun would have to be luminous if any of its children were; for that is the invariable the same adverse conditions, chiefly in 1162 law of the heavens. So the problem simmered down to finding a star or group the provious year. The reduction in of stars that would take the place of the contral ann.

A STUPENDOUS UNDERTAKING. The motion of the solar system having been settled as to fact, quantity and direction, astronomers set about to find the fallen more upon the earlier part of the centre of gravity of the whole astral system; for there, if anywhere,"the central aun was to be found. This was a stupendous undertaking: nevertheless, it has been done. The reason it was assumed that the centre of gravity of the astral system was the proper place to look for the central sun, was on account of the many analogies in the solar system. The moon and the earth revolve round their centre of gravity of the systems. In look ing for this a great discovery was made, one that showed it was no necessary to have a heavenly body so much larger than its satellite, consequently showing that the central sun need not be of enormous size. This discovery was that of binar, or double stars. These were stars of equal or nearly equal size revolving, not round each other but round-their-common centre of gravity; thus showing also the existence of a higher organisation in the realm o systems than the solar system. "Ne discovery of the binary stars having cleared the air, and having displaced all necessity for a prejudice in favour of a large central orb, the subject was taken up with more enthusiasm. The conditions necessary to the centre of a system were worked out

An astronomer named Maedler thought he had found the star to satisfy the necessary conditions in the constellation known as Taurus or the Bull. A closer scarch proved the special star under examination to be lacking in some of the conditions; so this one was left and search begun anew. This same as ronomer persisted in his search with a wonderful faith in his theory, and at last found a star fulfilling in the most wonderful and complete manner the necessary conditions. Everyone is familiar with the beautiful little cluster known the Pleiads or seven stars. The telescope however, shows fourteen stars clustered about the beautiful and brilliant star Alcyone, which is the optical centre of this

MAEDLER'S GREAT DISCOVERY. The proper motions of all these bave been determined with great exactness. They are all in the same direction, and are all nearly equal to each other, and, what is still more important, the mean of their proper motions differs from that of the central star, Alcyone, by only one-thousindth of a second of arc in right ascension, and by only two-thousandths of a second n declination. Here, then, is found a magnificent group of suns, either actually through space, or else composing a cluster SO Ministed as to be shocked by the same 'SKIN & BLOOD apparent motion produced by the sau's progression through the celestial regions. But an extension of the limits of research round Alcyone exhibits also the wonderful truth, that out of 110 stars within 15deg. of this centre, there are 60 moving souththat is, in the same direction-in full accordance with the hypothesis that Alcy one is the centre; 49 showing practically no motion; while conly cone single individual moves at all contrary to the computed motion. Thus was Maedler's profound speculation justified. Furthermore assuming Alcyone as the grand centre of the millions of stary composing our astral Chester, writes - Just a line in favour system, and the direction of the sun's seven months, and tried many things without motion to be as before mentioned, Maedler | benefit until I took your remedy. After the investigated the consequent movements of eighth bottle I was quite well again. Please all the stars in every quarter of the beavens. wonderful "Clarke's Blood Mixture." —June 11 112 Just where the swiftest motions should be found in accordance with this assump tion there they actually exist, this either demonstrating the truth of the theory or also people, in which the writers acknowledge the showing a well nigh impossible series of Mixture, which as a curative agent cannot be too coincidences. Photefore the conclusion bighly estimated, since it cleanses and clears the given out by Maedler is that Alcyone, the blood from all impurities, and restores it to its normal condition. This is a good testimonial principal star of the Pleiads, now occupies from the Family Doctor, the popular the centre of gravity and is at present the medical weakly, which goes on further to say! great central sun about which the universe science and skill have brought to light, and we of stars and all created matter within ou Links revolving, each entity in its own

Canton Insurance Office, Ltd.

The twenty-eighth ordinary meeting c whateholders of the Canton Insurance Company, Ltd., was held at the offices of Messra Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd.,

Hon Mr W. J. Gresson presided and there were present Sir Paul Chater, Mesers D. W. Craddock, F. Maitland, E. Shellim, consulting committee; P. Smith, Cheung Shiu, K. D. Gazdar, F. J. V. Riborio, Wong Loung Heirn, Ho U Sang, and the secretary Mr Leefe.

The secretary read the notice convening the meeting. The Chairman said-Gentlemen, - The reports and accounts have been in your hands for some days and I will therefore with your permission take them as read. Since our last meeting Mr G. C. Moxon has resigned his seat on the Board and your Consulting Committee filled the vacancy thus caused by electing Mr D. W. Craddock, of the Canadian Pacific Dinner Waggon, Hatatand, etc., etc. Railway Co., an appointment which, in few minutes you will have an opportunity of giving your assent to. The year's updrations that come under our review have been attended, I regret to say, with Lendon, as those which we experienced in premiums received is "directly attributable to restrictions we placed apon London underwriting, and the casting off of sources of business found to be unremunerative at the rates to which reckless undercutting had brought them. The lesses have been heavy but they have year than was the case in 1907 and therefore, subject to the warning I have uttered before on a previous occasion as to what may occur between now and 31st December, there should be ample prevision at GENT.'S SUIT LENGTHS & WHITE the credit of underwriting suspense account after the proposed transfer of $194,300.59, to close the year. I much regret that the results of the year render it advis able that the dividend be reduced 20 per cent., or $10 per share, but though pathaps it is a poor consolation, it is at all events pertinent to notice that many of our com; cittors have found it equally difficult to transact business at a profit. I do not think that there are any special features in the Accounts which call for particular mention but if any shareholder "desires arther information with respect to themshall be pleased to answer such ouestions as he may wish to ask before putting the motion that the Report and Accounts as presented be adopted and passed. There being no questions the Chairman proposed-the adoption-of-the-report and Mr Gazdar seconded and the report and the 27th October, 1909, commencing as accounts were adopted. On the motion of Mr Lo Cheung Shui seconded by Mr Wong Loung Heim the consulting committee were re-elected. were re-elected auditors on the motion of Mr. Hou Sang seconded by Mr Riberio. The Chairman - That is all the business, gentlemen; dividend, warrants will be and then these were looked for in the posted early to morrow. Thank you for your attendance."

The following story, "founded on fact," will probably not appeal to many of my readers, though the few concerned censider it a gem of the first water. It appears that some larky young men on the night before the typhoon decided to play a prank on one of their friends. While wandering about down town they came across a cat-a sandy quadruped which goes by the name of 'Toby." Collaring the animal they conveyed it, with the aid of a basket, up to the higher levels to a certain house situated not far from the Kennedy Road Tram Station. There their intention was to put the cat through the window .. into their friend's room. No social planned than put into execution. After coaxing Toby to squeeze through the shutters—the coaxing being done by tying a knot in his tail and attaching a small tin can thereto—they induced him, much to his vexation and much against his will, to enter the bedroom. A Stowaway Case.

At the Magistracy this morning Mr J. R. Wood was occupied for some time in dealing with cases arising out of alleged stowing away on board the s.s. Eastern while bound from Hongkong to Australia. A week ago six Chinese had been charged with being stowaways, and then two were sent to prison for nine months each, while sentence was reserved in order that they for aiding and abetting in the offence. Mr H. J. Gedge prosecuted. Mr E. Davidson appeared for the first defendant, Mr F. C. Barlow for the second, and Mr Mr Harris said he wished to address the Court on the question of penalty, while Mr Barlow and Mr Davidson wshed to have a rehearing of the case.

Mr | arlow said his client was only 18 on and on the upper levels leaves-yes, dear brother was paid money and he then handreader, think of it-leaves were broken off ed defendant over. Defendant was not a free agent in the matter at all, having obbelated coolie (whatever brand that is) and solutely no voice in the wrong doing. He was put on board by force, and was there-

> Mr Davidson said his client was also brought down and put on board, being under the impression that he was to get an honest passage. When he discovered tha he was put into the coal bunkers he came up and refused to stay there.

His Worship said he could not grant rethearings, but he would consider what should be done after the defendants had given evidence in the other charge. If facts came out which showed that the sentences he had already passed on the two others were too severe he would approach the Government on the matter.

Mr Eldon Potter, who was appearing to defend in the case against Li Yu Kai, for alleged siding and abetting, said it was not quite the ordinary course in criminal law to reserve centence until a certain man gave evidence. To do this would be to offer a strong inducement to the men to lie and lie hard.

His Worship-If they lie they will lie n this sense, that they have not committed the offence, and that offence has been proved. If it were the other way round I would consider the point.

Mr Potter said his point was that these men, being convicted, could only hope for a mitigation of their sentence. They would simply go into the box one after another and say they were really not willing at all, that they were passive resisters. His Worship said he did not think any injustice would be done; and remanded the defendants until Friday next at 2.15

THE CRADLE OF THE HUMAN RACE.

Was it in Mongolia?

An interesting exploring expedition Mongolia and Central Asia has just been completed by M. Wittenburg, leader of the geological committee of the Academy of Science of Geological Research in the Amuz District. As a result of his observations, says a Russian exchange, M. Wittenberg proposes to extend his investigations into the little known portions of Siberia next year, when he hopes to publish some discoveries of great interest in the archeological as well-as the geological world. M. Wittenburg believes. with another Russian geologist, Kropotkin -who propounded the theory forty years ago-that the first human beings, in the Tertitary epoch, lived on the banks of lakes in the Gobi plains, on the shores of a gulf (Baraba), and even along the open he recoding of this sea to the morth an the drying up of the lakes thy migrated left their traces in the shape of knives, hatcheter and other weapons of various called " Mongolian Sea " swallowed up and annihilated more than one of peoples living in Siberia ...

A CHINESE FORGER.

Under the above heading "J. Y. T. G." spins the following yarn for the benefit of readers of the Glasgons Herold :-

It was a large inn on a main road in Manchuria. The long, low building was on higher ground than the road, up from which the compound sloped. The season being summer all the paper windows had been Ho taken out for the day, which meant that the whole back and front was quite open. About five o'clock one afternoon three! carts rumbled into the inn yard, returning empty to Kirin! The carters after seeing to their mules came into the inn and sat down on the "kangs," mud platforms running down both sides of the room on which brown backs covered with flies, Soon one of the carters moved over to vacant part of the room and called for an inn boy to bring him a table. One of the "kang" tables, about a foot high, was placed for him. On to the "kang" before this table he sidled, doubling one leg under him; and leaving the other dangling over the edge. Then reaching over to where he had flung down his light cotton upper garment on entering the inn he drew out a packet. This he opened, and spreading the contents on the table called for a can of Chinese spirit. In the packet were sheets of tough white paper cut exactly to the 87 size of Government notes. He put a thin sheet of common paper on the table, took a piece from the small pile of note size, laid T it on the under sheet of common paper; and folded the latter over on the top. On this he poured the spirit, rubbing it on 30th Oct., at Noon. lightly with his fingers, leaving it no time M to soak in before setting the spirit on fire, which burned with a small blue flame without injuring the paper in any way. When it had burned out the harmless-looking leaf of white paper folded between the two layers had become an almost perfect imitation of a yellow and black Government note for 10 " tiao " (about 6s).

This note was passed round the inn, web and smelling of spirit, to be admired and criticised. When the others found out what the carter was doing they became interested and pressed round him, watching him turn off false note after false note. Privacy is unknown and undesired in China. Sometimes he was careless and let the paper go on fire, and at other times the result was unsatisfactory, the notes being marked with green in patches. These he-pronounced useless, and they were presented to anyone who cared to have them. Others were perfect specimens, which, after they dried and lost the smell of spirit, would be undistinguishable from genuine notes. The forger paid his inn bill with one of these good imitations, which the innkeepar was very pleased to have. Ten "tiso" for about one "tiso's" worth of spirit and food was good profit. The note Oct., at Daylight. being a good forgery, could easily be passed to the first unsuspecting traveller. The carter was not a forger by trade. He had probably never had such a thing as forged paper money in his possession before. nor was he likely to have again. He had received it from a Japanese, a "fare," instead of wine money. A little forger with the chance of large profits was only an incident in his life. The next morning we all went our ways. Anyone of us could have had that carter beheaded by giving information had we chosen. In China, however, one minds one's own business, for that improves one's chance of living comfortably and dying quietly. "

Great Eruptions Broke Out When but a Baby and Lasted 19 Years-Pronounced Incurable at Hospitals -Pain and Disfiguration Terrible.

CUTICURA'S SUCCESS QUICK AND PERFECT

then burst. My parents tried everything they could think of but the disease spread until my face, arms and hands were completely covered. The irritation and pain were so great that they had to see my hands up in wadding to prevent me from scratching the sores. My parents placed me in a private hospital. When they decided to take me away my ecrema was not only werse but my health very much lowered.

"After this, three public hospitals were each given a fair trial with my case and at everyone I was at last pronounced incurable. The doctors said that I should incurable. The doctors said that I should have these eruptions every spring and autumn. The bilitess were a fearful size and got worse as I graw older. The pain of these sores was really terrible and the effect on my health was very bad. Apart from this I experienced great disadvantages from being disfigured, both in private life and in business, for no one liked to come too near me. liked to come too near me.

"At the earnest recommendation of a friend, I decided to give Cuticurs a trial two years ago. Almost immediately I lost the pain and irritation and the spots rapidly disappeared. I persevered with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Cintment and the result has been to rid my system completely of the disease. Miss Beatrice Jennings, 15, Nevill Road.
